Privacy policy

Utagoe Inc. appreciates the importance of protecting the customers' personal information for privacy rights. All board members and employees observe public laws and regulations as well as internal regulations for the protection of personal information.

Also, we do not provide information to third parties without the user's permission.

However, if we receive legally-established requests in the appropriate manner, or if we need to protect the rights and properties of this company, we will allow use of the least possible information necessary for these purposes.

We take all possible measures to protect your personal information, but please note that we shall not hold responsibility in case of accidents or force majeure events.
